The Tenement Houses of New York.

COMMENGEMENT OF THE LIBERATIVE COMMITTEE INVESTIGATION—EX-ALDERMAN BLUNT'S PLAN OF TENANT HOUSES.

The committee of the Legislature appointed to examine into the construction of the tenement houses of New York, the number of families occupying them, and the general condition of such tenements and their occupants, held their first meeting on Friday, at 3 P. M., at the Mayor's flice. The committee comprises John M.
Reed, of New York, (Chairman); W. J. Sass, of Richmond county; Eli Curtis, of Westchester county; Augustus J. Duganne, of New York, and John Handford, of Kings county. The following is the preamble and reco-Kings county. The following is the preamble and resolution passed by the Legislature, on the 6th instant, upon lation passed by the Legislature, on the 6th instant, upon which the committee was appointed:

Whereas, complaints have been made as to the manner in which buildings known as tenement houses in the city of New York have been made and are now being constructed, that they are often run up to a great height and with but proper regard to the strength of the foundation walis; that the several buildings are cut up into apartmeots which have very little ventilation; that the halls or passage ways through said buildings are narrow and not constructed in a proper manner to insure the safety of the ives of the enants; that these houses are mostly filed with the poorer class of persons, hundreds of whom are often crowded into a single building, and without any means of egress in case of fire or any sudden alarm except through a single passage way; therefore Receved that a committee, consisting of five members of this House, be appointed to make an examination of the manner in which teamt houses are constructed in the city of New York, and recort the same to this Legislature, and also if any and what legislation is requisite and necessary to amely the crits and afford full protection to the lives and health of the compants of such buildings.

There was a full attendance of the committee present on Friday.

on Friday. enter upon the duties delegated to them, and in the dis-charge of those duties should be glad to gather informstion from any source touching the matters into the investigation of which they had been commissioned. They would have a large amount of labor to perform in the way of visiting tenement houses to gather facts as to their construction and actual concition. In addition to this they should hold stated sessions to hear the volum-rary so aments of landlords and builders as to any sug-gestions they might have to make relative to alterations of the present tenent houses, and best plans for building new mes.

tary stalements of landfords and builders as to any sugestions they might have to make relative to alterations of the present tenant houses, and best plans for building new ones.

Ex-Alderman Blunt appeared before the committee, and was nearly an hour occupied in explaining the construction of tenant houses, which he had erected himself in the lower and upper parts of the city, with comments upon the general construction of other tenement houses, and his own v.e.s as to the best material and plan to be adopted for the construction of tenant houses. He charged that the present inefficient, overcrowded and unbraltly con tition of tenant houses of the city was attributable aim: at entirely to speculators, who took land on see as an erected trail tenements, and to accure large returns for their investments allowed them to be crowded to their utmost capacity. The law atipulating that the walls of brink tenement houses should be 12 inches thick bad been productive of no good, as the buildings were only run up two or three stories higher to cover additions; expense from the extra thistness of wall. He rungested the following as, in his view, the strongest and best kind of tenant houses:—A three story house, 16 by 50 feet, (three buildings to be erected on a 50 feet front); should have its walls 8 inches thick by 40 feet high. Each story should contain four nooms to be occupied by one family of four persens, with plazzas in the rear. Ample room and light and air, he insisted, would be afforced the occupants of such suching, and atrent from $10 to $5 per month. A five story building on a lot 25 by $0 should have 12 rooms and four families on a floor. The ventitation vould be from the siees. In such a tenement the rent would vary from $10 to $5 per month. A five story building in an atom of improved tenant houses, and how then yellow and a minute discription of the rooms of each story of houses as at present built, together with a more extended explana ion of improved tenant houses, and how then prent, the rough vent lis dition of the sinks, &c., of the main building is quite as good as could be expected after the rigors of the severe winter through which we have just passed, and the insufficiency of the accommodations for such a multitude of persons. The Croton water This freely through them; and, barring the damp and humidity of the underground premises, which must, of necessity, be extreme, they may be said to be barely tenantable. The condition of the branch or Roosevelt street wing requires immediate attention, being wholly untenantable. The ventilation of the main building is, perhaps, as good as can be attained in a house of its magnitude, and the modes of ingress and egress as good or better, and as safe for escape from fire, as any similar building in the city. The branch building is aitogether inferior in these respects, and is but illy adapted to its present use. But one passage or entrance way serves the whole building, and, in care of fire, escape would be difficult.

This extire building is owned by one man, and rents for $4.000 per month, or $4.000 per annum.

way serves the whole building, and, in case of fire, escepe would be difficult.

This entire building is owned by one man, and rents for $400 per month, or $4,800 per annum.

Reception of thom. Edward Everett and Dr. E. K. Kane, in Baltimore.

[From the Baltimore Sue, March 12.]

In accordance with a previous arrangement, the joint committee of the City Council, yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, waited upon the Hon. Edward Everett, at the Gilmor House, to extend to him the hospitalities of the city. They were accompanied by Hon. Joshua Vansant, President of the Maryland institute, and a number of members of the Institute, members of the City Council, and a number of cluirens. Arrived in the reception room. Mr. Vansant proceeded to the rooms of Mr. Everett and announced their presence, and immediately returned with the distinguished gontleman, and introduced him to Mr. Kirk, the chairman of the examinitee of the Council. R. Kirk buiefly and eloquently performed the duty assigned him. He referred to the distinguished character of Mr. E., stating it had reem is some degree customary to extend such a compliment to soldiers who had well served their country, as the meed due to exalted patriotism. It was now his duty as well as his pleasure to extend it to a civilian, not less renewned, and whose character was the property of the country. Those who in historic researches dived deep down into the past, and brought the honored dead, as it were, living before us, de-erved the thanks of humanity. The greeting of a welcome hospitality was given to him.

Mr. Everett as buildy responded, thanking the seople of Baltimore for the high honor so unexpec edity tendered him. Baltimore was world-resowed for her hospitality, and he could but appreciate this special mark of her favor. Her energy and enterprise were proverbial, and he referred to the opening of her avenues to the boundless West. The name of her private was proverbial, and he referred to the opening of her avenues to the boundless west. The committee, and a large numbe present, who shortly after retired.

A favorable settlement of the peace controversy at Paris, in all probability, will be succeeded by an important movement on the part of France in the Mediterranean. For several years past the Franch government has had its attention drawn to that quarter, to the acquisition of Tangler, a port of Morocco, at the entrance of the Mediterranean, as affording counter influences to those possessed by Great Britain in har possession of Gibraltar. During the latter part of Louis Philippe's government, that monarch was uncessing in his extitions to bring about a war with the Empire of Morocco, thus affording some outward excuse for a seisure of Tangler, and for converting the same into a French garrison. In this object he finally succeeded, at least so far as to order a bombardment of the town, and a blocase of the port, by a squadron under the command of the Prince de Jounville. At about the same time, the French Algerine land force, under Marshal Bugsaud, marched upon the Morocco army, deteated it, and took presession of their artillery and a large booty in stores, baggare, tents and colors. These operations had the effect of producing great excitement in England, and to the demand which the British Minuster made upon France, as to the ultimate design of that government in that quarter, M. Guizot replied that there was no desire on the part of France to agrandire herself at the expense of Mcrocco. The want of firmness at this moment to carry out the design with led to the war on the part of France, and particularly in the French Chambers, where Ministers were charged with the warning to a termination the number of the same of the conference of the conferen

France has made no offer of her services to mediate in the settlement of our difficulties with E giand. The offer, should one be made, would not be accepted, but our government could not but be sensible of the friendly interest shown in her behalf, should France present herself as mediator.

Notices to Martiners.

Hydrographic Notice—The Northern Beacon of the Martiners, getter from the Farol, disappeared in the gale of the 28th of October.

The want of a fixed leading mark that would render a navigator in dependent of beacongs, and at the same time easure the ocepted water, between the Sta Anna Bank and the Middle Bank, must keep have been fell destrable.

Lieut sidney has the satisfaction to announce that he has established a mark for that purpose.

A stone beacon on the SE end of the Island of Martin Garcia, on a clear green patch of ground, has been erected and witewashed.

This beacon kept carefully in one with the Farol Post (over the Western end of the barracka), will clear the Banks on both sides, and lead through in the ocepest water.

This mark has be made available after entering the chantle wastern end of the barracka), will clear the Banks on both sides, and lead through in the ocepest water.

The mark made he made available after entering the chantle wastern end of the barracka), will clear the Banks on both sides, and lead through in the ocepest water.

The mark therefore, will dispense with the necessity of replacing the missing beacon, as it would also of the two below it, though they break advill.

The enance inside the Middle Bank has been reported to be a bola, or saca, with no outlet, by the pictig either on account of its former junction with the main channel to the Scuthward baving filled up, or from their not being aware where it now joins it. It is four miles from the Six and of the Island, and a buoy or beacon, placed on the South end of the Island, and a buoy or beacon, placed on the South end of the Island, and a buoy or beacon, placed on the South end of the Island, and a buoy or beacon, placed on the South end of the Island, and a set of the six and indicast the opening of this channel extendently for 2½ miles, between twe stoned into a wider and deep
